

Aglow sisters reunite

After 40+ years, these eight sisters enjoyed their first reunion. Seven in person and one on Zoom. They aren't really family. Among them, talents abound and brought them together in the late 1970s. A piano player, worship leader, Bible teacher, and speaker. They were all members of a growing Aglow Chapter in Temecula, California.

But in the years that followed these women went their separate ways, raising kids, loving grandkids, retiring, and going through life's trials and victories. They have moved and lived in various parts of the country. During the past four decades, they held positions as classroom teacher, classroom assistants, real estate sales agents, politician, success coach, retail salespersons, clown, standup comedian, and writers. The thing that remained constant was the foundation of their beliefs.

So, what brought these women together after all these years? They don't live in the same town, go to the same church, or communicate regularly. They share the same faith and consider themselves sisters in Christ. It's love that brings them together. But how did this reunion come about? One woman invited another to an event and asked about the whereabouts of the others. In a matter of minutes, the idea of planning a reunion was hatched. Three weeks later, the great potluck reunion took place.

Back (left to right) Midge Ray, Robyn Norland, Kathy Crook, Nina McElwain, Cindy Paino.
Front: Marcia Slaven, Sondra White (on Zoom), Karen Robertson.

On the day of the get-together, there was so much chaotic, unbridled, exuberance, they've decided to do it again . . . soon. They shared some of their stories, rejoiced at the goodness of God, and laughed at how they all still looked the same! Imagine that?! LOL ♦

Shared by Karen Robertson,
Wildomar, California.

Taste of reunions!

Who doesn't look forward to the wide array of wonderful smells and tastes of reunion potlucks, picnics and banquets? Do these pictures remind you of wonderful memories and make your mouth water? Add these to why you can't wait for your next reunion!

